

Faizan is a passionate environmental scientist committed to sustainability. With a deep understanding of ecological systems, he works tirelessly to develop and implement solutions that address pressing environmental issues and promote a greener future